About the Seminar

The issue of citizenship is one of the most important agenda of international relations around the world. Recently, the Indian State revised various provisions of citizenship and adopted the Amended Act in 2019. The move stirred mix reactions and in different corners incurred intense protests against new legislation. The lone State of Assam where NRC (National Register of Citizens) was implemented exhibited serious challenges to people as well as to the authorities. One of the debated challenges is the documentation and keeping record of citizenship. On one hand it is suggested to link all the documents centrally while procedures, mechanisms, and official status of such instrument is still under dilemma. Keeping various paradigms of citizenship inclusively, this seminar is aimed to highlight the theme “Changing Paradigm of Citizenship in India: Issues and Challenges” with the following sub themes that are not exhaustive.

Sub Themes of Seminar

- Citizenship: Approaches and Theories
- Different Facets of Citizenship in India
- Regional Differences over the Concept of Citizenship
- Governance and Citizenship
- Digital Documentation and Record Keeping of Citizenship
- Issues of NRC
- Issues of CAB
- Issues of Human Rights and Citizenship
- Issues of Statelessness
- Party Politics and Citizenship
- Issues of Citizenship in North East India
- Citizenship: Way ahead

About Meghalaya

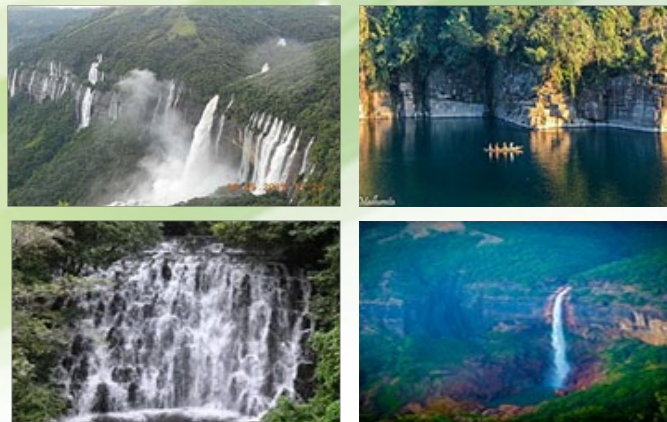

Meghalaya meaning “abode of clouds” is a state in northeastern India. Meghalaya was previously part of Assam, but on 21 January 1972, the districts of Khasi, Garo and Jaintia hills became the new state of Meghalaya. The state is bound to the south by the Bangladeshi divisions of Mymensingh and Sylhet, to the west by the Bangladeshi division of Rangpur, and to the north and east by India’s State of Assam. The capital of Meghalaya is Shillong. Meghalaya is compared to Scotland for its highlands, fog, and scenery.
